Announcements

Brian Barnes, IAB director and an expert in hibernation physiology, will deliver a special lecture at the 36th Congress of the International Union of Physiological Sciences in Kyoto, Japan August 1. Barnes was chosen by the IUPS commission to present the first in a lecture series named in honor of a founder of the field of physiology, Knut Schmidt-Nielsen, professor emeritus at Duke University and a member of the U.S. National Academy of Sciences until his death in 2007. Barnes' lecture will be "Overwintering Adaptations of Animals in a Changing Arctic."
