

LIFE SCIENCE NEWS

Published by the Institute of Arctic Biology

Monday, 18 March 2019

Announcements

2019 Graduate Summer Research Award

Competition: Graduate research awardees will each receive up to $7,500 in bi-weekly payments from June to mid-August 2019. Applications must be submitted no later than 5:00pm on April 5, 2019.

Eligible candidates must meet the following criteria:

- New or continuing UAF graduate students registered for ≥ 6 credit hrs/semester
- Good academic standing (≥ 3.0 GPA, current Graduate Study Plan and Annual Report)
- Must devote full time to research during the period of the award
- Major advisor must be an IAB faculty member
- Previous award recipients must have provided the required report on time
- All required safety training must be completed

Applications will be evaluated on a combination of merit and need. Click here for more information and full application instructions.

Congratulations to Janessa Newman, BLaST

Scientist of the Month! Janessa is a senior biological sciences major at UAF who has worked with CANHR during her undergraduate research. Find out more about Janessa and her accomplishments here.

Events and Seminars

22 March 2019

- Life Science Hour Seminar: Sparsely populated areas as a specific geographical environment

François-Michel Le Tourneau

4:00PM - 5:00PM

Murie Life Science Bldg, Murie Auditorium.

New IAB Publications

Legend: f=faculty, r=research scientist, s=staff, e=emeritus, a=affiliate, g=grad student, p=post-doc, u=undergrad student, h=high school student

Harms, Tamara K. (f), Cook, Christopher L., Wlostowski, Adam N., Gooseff, Michael N., and Godsey, Sarah E. (2019). Spiraling Down Hillslopes: Nutrient Uptake from Water Tracks in a Warming Arctic. Ecosystems [IAB 4431].

See the UAF Cornerstone for more news and events (<http://uafcornerstone.net/>).

LIFE SCIENCE HOUR SEMINAR

Friday, 22 March 2019

4:00 PM - Murie Life Science Bldg, Murie Auditorium.

Sparsely populated areas as a specific geographical environment

François-Michel Le Tourneau

Today's Quote

To hold a pen is to be at war.

Voltaire